- * Full-time enrollment

- * Out-of-Class Preparation

Course instructors generally structure their courses so that the “average” student will need to devote two to three hours outside of class each week for each unit of course credit. In other words, students should expect to spend 6 to 9 hours outside of class each week for a 3-unit class in completing assigned readings, performing library or internet searches, doing homework assignments, writing papers or reports, studying for quizzes/exams, etc.
