These statements are supported by notes to the financial statements and management's discussion and analysis. These statements are prepared using the direct method of cash flows and therefore present gross, rather than net, amounts for the year's activities.

Financial Overview

The following discussion highlights management's understanding of the key financial aspects of the Organization's financial activities, as of the period July 1, 2017 through June 30, 2018. Included, is an analysis of the current year activities and balances.

Although the federal negotiated F&A rate is 47 percent of modified total direct costs, many awards receive a lower rate, and certain categories of expense may not be used when calculating the actual cost recovery. The actual cost recovery rate for the year is 8.9 percent, above the planned rate of 7.7 percent. Projected F&A for fiscal year 2018-19 is 7.9 percent.

Grant Highlights

The Organization administered 58 new and continuing awards during this reporting period. These awards help fund educational, research, and service activities that benefit students, teachers, small businesses, and members of the California State University, Bakersfield (CSU Bakersfield or the University) community. Enrollment Management Grants

CAMP at CSU Bakersfield is one of the federally-funded student equity programs designed to meet the needs of students with migrant or seasonal farm working backgrounds. CAMP, at CSU Bakersfield, is one of 9 CAMP Programs in the state of California, serving 75 students annually. CAMP offers eligible students pre-college transition and first-year support services to help develop the skills necessary to succeed in college. CAMP collaborates with University faculty, student services, and community-based agencies to enhance educational and career opportunities for all CAMP eligible students. CAMP and its staff are committed to helping its students succeed at CSU Bakersfield. HEP is a federal grant program, funded by the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Migrant Education. HEP offers a year-round academic program to 100 migrant and seasonal farmworker participants so they can successfully complete their high school equivalency certificate. It also seeks to prepare them to access and obtain improved employment, begin postsecondary studies, or enroll in a vocational training program. HEP, at CSU Bakersfield, is one of 14 High School Equivalency programs in the state of California and the only project providing these specialized services in the southern San Joaquin Valley. Our satellite school centers are located in Wasco, Lamont, Miramonte High School, Golden Valley High School, and CSU Bakersfield during the summer. HEP is on its third consecutive funding cycle, through 2020. HEP alone will serve a minimum of 500 migrant and seasonal farmworkers and their families in a five-year cycle (2015-2020). 2017-18 Project Highlights: One student was a National HEP/CAMP Scholarship recipient. To date, $9,500 in scholarship funds, from the National HEP/CAMP Association, have been awarded to CSU Bakersfield HEP graduates as financial assistance for their college expenses. HEP successfully assisted 47 participants attain their official GED certificate. To date, HEP has assisted 23 graduates attain placement in higher education, vocational training, or better employment. Currently, five graduates have been enrolled at Bakersfield College for the Fall Semester. One HEP graduate has been admitted to CSU Bakersfield as a transfer student from Taft College.

The ETS program has been on our campus for 31 years and is one of the eight federal programs targeted to serve and assist low-income individuals, first-generation college students, and individuals with disabilities, to progress through the academic pipeline from middle school to post baccalaureate programs. The ETS program is dedicated to creating, promoting, and supporting a college-bound culture in the Kern County community. The mission of the program is to increase the number of low-income students, and potentially first-generation students, who successfully complete high school and postsecondary-educational programs.

School of Natural Sciences, Mathematics and Engineering (NSM&E) Grants

The National Science Foundation (NSF) has supported research and student success in NSM&E by funding several grants within the school. Two representative grant programs currently funded by the agency are CREST and the program on Improving Undergraduate STEM Education (IUSE). These programs are administered by the Organization.

CREST Phase II integrated the educational experience of participating students, in Year 1, by holding bi-weekly all-hands-on meetings that were required for all CREST participants to attend. These meetings helped to monitor progress on research activity, address advising/student success related matters, as well as provide an opportunity for students' research progress presentations, faculty research talks, and guest research speakers. Courses, taught by CREST faculty, were adapted to design a more transdisciplinary curriculum for all CREST participants. Students and faculty participated in outreach activities. Twenty-one students (7 undergraduate, 14 graduate) were granted CREST support for academic year 17/18. Eighteen papers were submitted, are in review, or published in top international journals by CREST participants. Five former and current CREST students finished these this past year. Forty-nine presentations were given at local, national, and regional meetings by CREST participants.

STEM Retention and Graduation; An Integrated Approach: This project consists of a co-teaching and curriculum enhancement scheme in pre-calculus and calculus courses, in-class student tutors, a student ambassador program, and a summer enrichment program for "at-risk" lower division students.

Besides support from the NSF, NSM&E receives research, and other program funding, from other federal agencies, and from private organizations. For example, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) provided funding to develop experiential learning, and research and extension opportunities, for underrepresented students earning engineering degrees from CSU Bakersfield. This program, titled USDA Novel Research, involves outreach efforts with the potential to reach more than 35,000 high school students and more than 2,000 community college students. 60% of the student participants will come from outside CSU Bakersfield.

The nursing program has received continued funding, from the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development (OSHPD), for supporting programs that train family and primary care physicians, osteopathic family physicians, primary care physician's assistants, registered nurses and primary care nurse practitioners, to provide necessary services in areas of unmet need within the state. Additionally, funding received from Bakersfield Memorial Hospital and Dignity Health, in support of the Master of Science in Nursing, Family Nurse Practitioner Program, has allowed for the updating of existing equipment and the purchase of new equipment that will be used to enhance the student clinical and simulation experiences, which provide the critical foundation during the first year of the training program.

Conventional, steam flooding-based oil production operations in Kern County, California results in the production of approximately 250,000 acre-ft. of water annually. CSU Bakersfield faculty received funding from private sources which allows for the testing and development of water treatment technologies, to treat the current disposal volumes of associated water, and to use the treated water for various beneficial reuses, which can not only help the oil industry in coping with low oil prices and regulatory constraints related to disposal of oilfield-produced water, but it can also add to the existing water supplies of a region, which often face serious draught conditions.

School of Social Science and Education (SS&E) Grants

The Teacher Quality Partnership (TQP) grant funding has been integral in establishing the Kern Rural Teacher Residency. The goal of this residency program is to prepare elementary school teachers with specialized emphases in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) to teach in rural, high-need school districts. For the partnership, CSU Bakersfield works closely with three rural districts: Buttonwillow Elementary, Lamont Elementary, and Semitropic Elementary. Kern Rural Teacher Residents receive full tuition support for the completion of their teaching credentials and master's degree.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

Year Ended June 30, 2018

As an important part of this project, hundreds of students, from the three rural districts, participate in Camp Blast, which is a summer STEM academy at the districts and on the CSU Bakersfield campus. Data on the residents' progress through the program is consistently collected and analyzed for program improvement.

The Kern Urban Teacher Residency is a partnership, between the University and the Bakersfield City School District (BCSD). Diverse undergraduate students are recruited and selected to complete their credential program coursework, and clinical practice, in an innovative model including a Saturday Lab School with BCSD students. Grant funding is provided to offset tuition expenses for the CSU Bakersfield students and to provide stipends to the Cooperating Teachers from BCSD. An Educational Coordinator from the University works closely with an administrator from BCSD to coordinate all aspects of the program including selection of residents, Cooperating Teachers, and placement sites. Data on the residents' progress through the program is consistently collected and analyzed for program improvement.

Other Grants

There is increasing grant activity within other units of the University. During the reporting period, the Office of Grants, Research, and Sponsored Programs served as the financial hub for continuation of the Building Healthy Communities (BHC) grant, funded by the California Endowment. This program is part of a long-term effort to address poverty and improve health and economic status of communities in South Kern County through deep, sustained community-driven investments and partnerships.

The Organization was formed and operated solely for the benefit of California State University, Bakersfield as a non-profit auxiliary organization. The Organization is responsible for the accomplishment of certain University objectives that require financial support not provided by the State. These activities occur in all aspects of University life, including the development and administration of sponsored grants and contracts for faculty and staff research and educational projects.

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying basic financial statements have been prepared using the economic resources measurement focus and the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Revenues are recorded when earned and expenses are recorded when a liability is incurred, regardless of the timing of related cash flows. Grants and similar items are recognized as revenue as soon as all eligibility requirements have been met.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Income Taxes

The Organization is a qualified nonprofit organization that is exempt from income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and Section 23701(d) of the California Revenue and Taxation Code. However, the Organization remains subject to taxes on any net income which is derived from a trade or business regularly carried on and unrelated to its exempt purpose.

The Organization follows accounting standards generally accepted in the United States of America related to the recognition of uncertain tax positions. The Organization recognizes accrued interest and penalties associated with uncertain tax positions as part of the statement of revenues, expenses, and changes in net position, when applicable. Management has determined that the Organization has no uncertain tax positions at June 30, 2018 and 2017 and therefore no amounts have been accrued.

Accounts Receivable

The accounts receivable arise in the normal course of operations. It is the policy of management to review the outstanding accounts receivable at year end, as well as the bad debt write-offs experienced in the past, and establish an allowance for doubtful accounts for uncollectible amounts. A provision for doubtful accounts has not been established as management considers all accounts to be collectible based upon a favorable history over a substantial period of time. If amounts become uncollectible, they will be charged to operations when that determination is made.

Capital Assets

The Organization capitalizes all expenditures for capital assets in excess of $5,000. Equipment and improvements are recorded at cost or at estimated fair value at date of gift if donated. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are charged against operations. Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets of 3 to 30 years.

Deferred Revenue

Deferred revenue represents grant revenue received in advance.

Advertising

The Organization follows the policy of charging the costs of advertising to expense as incurred.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING AND ON COMPLIANCE AND OTHER MATTERS BASED ON
AN AUDIT OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS PERFORMED IN ACCORDANCE WITH GOVERNMENT AUDITING STANDARDS

To the Board of Directors
California State University, Bakersfield, Auxiliary for Sponsored Programs Administration

We have audited, in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, the financial statements of California State University, Bakersfield, Auxiliary for Sponsored Programs Administration (a nonprofit organization), which comprise the statement of net position as of June 30, 2018, and the related statements of revenue, expenses, and changes in net position, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements, and have issued our report thereon dated September 18, 2018.

Internal Control over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements, we considered California State University, Bakersfield, Auxiliary for Sponsored Programs Administration's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) to determine the audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of California State University, Bakersfield, Auxiliary for Sponsored Programs Administration's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of California State University, Bakersfield, Auxiliary for Sponsored Programs Administration's internal control.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the entity's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph of this section and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies. Given these limitations, during our audit we did not identify and deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses. However, material weaknesses may exist that have not been identified.

Compliance and Other Matters

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether California State University, Bakersfield, Auxiliary for Sponsored Programs Administration's financial statements are free from material misstatement, we performed tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no instances of noncompliance or other matters that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING AND ON COMPLIANCE AND OTHER MATTERS BASED ON

Purpose of this Report

The purpose of this report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the organization's internal control or on compliance. This report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the organization's internal control and compliance. Accordingly, this communication is not suitable for any other purpose.
