

CELEBRATE CSUB!

Fifth Annual Open Campus Event

April 30, 2011

A first glance of the glorious CSUB campus flags waving proudly on this warm and sunny Saturday morning.

A young man walking over to his friends as they prepare for a fun day exploring the college campus and find out about student life.

The very vibrant and beloved blue and yellow Roadrunner on display right outside Dorothy Donahoe Hall.

A very focused group of parents and students finding out information while touring through the campus.

So much commotion taking place at the red brick road as parents and students ask questions at the booths and get answers.

Students and young children get very creative and cover the sidewalk with chalk art right outside the DDH and the Education Building.

Young girls Elyssa Larios, 9, (left) and Jessica Leyton, 8, (right) frantically search for any deep sea treasures possibly buried in the sand.

Many exciting games taking place, like this session of cup pong, right outside the cafeteria.

Numerous amounts of families chatting, enjoying a lunch and listening to music on the grass by the Student Union.

Parents watching over their children letting loose in the incredibly fun bouncy houses on the grass nearby the Student Union.

CSUB's very own group of Black Young Stars caught in action dancing to the beat, right outside the Student Union.

Does anybody get a whiff of that new car smell? A brand new Scion parked and on display right by the Student Union entrance.

The Japan and Beyond Club is caught stealing the show and impressing onlookers with their unique dance style while raising money for Japan relief.

Japan and Beyond members watch in the background as one bold member decided to dress up and entertain the crowd.
