

Alexandria Ngo

Chelsea vs West Ham

Chelsea Stadium in London, England on April 23, 2011. Chelsea vs West Ham. Home game for Chelsea football club.

Walking into the grounds of the Chelsea Stadium

Policeman on horses monitoring the crowd.

Chelsea vs West Ham. Kick-off starts at 5:30pm.

Before the match starts the stadium is field with Chelsea fans.

The supporters of West Ham fans section.

The Chelsea fans hold up flags supporting their club Chelsea as the game is beginning to start.

The fans show their passion and love for their favorite football club inside the Chelsea stadium.

Fernando Torres was bought for 50 million pounds for Chelsea at the start of the year. He is a top forward in the premiere league of football. He is known for scoring and creative play. He has remained scoreless since he has started playing for the Chelsea football club. Here he waits for the ref to blow the whistle to start the game.

The start of the game as both teams enter the field.

Chelsea(blue) welcomes West Ham(red) to their stadium and pay their respects before the match starts.

During the games Torres goes down with an injury. The personal trainers had to step on the field.

The keeper for Chelsea(blue) makes a game changing save from the West Ham shot.

Torres scores his first goal after 83 days, 14 games, 12 hours and 12 minutes at Chelsea. His team captain congratulates him.

At the end of the game the camera is on Torres for scoring his first goal of the season.

Leaving the Chelsea stadium through the proud Chelsea fans.