

Balloons to welcome people on a Saturday morning at CSUB campus to Celebrate CSUB.

Rebeca Valle

Nick, 24, is making a vase on a sunny day at CSUB by the classroom buildings to show visitors one of the many classes available at CSUB.

Fred Brown selling gourmet ice on a Saturday afternoon at Celebrate CSUB to refresh the visitors on this sunny day.

CSUB's Roadrunner biting UC Irvine's Anteater on a Saturday morning by the DDH hall to show that the roadrunners are going to beat the Anteaters at their baseball game later that afternoon.

Jesus, 21, is enjoying a mango ice on this sunny day at CSUB because he was feeling the hot weather.

Tents used to give information about CSUB by the Education Building for the visitors and new students to get a vibe of what CSUB is all about.

Ligia Hemaidan giving out tours at Celebrate CSUB to show the migrant families the migrant programs that CSUB has to offer.

A barn owl from F.A.C.T. on a Saturday by the Science 1 Building used to show one of the many type of birds that they have under care.

Bird eggs shown at the F.A.C.T. information tent on Saturday to show us how many eggs look and differ from one another.

Jordan Green, 19, painting at Circle of Painting booth on a sunny afternoon to help create a canvas painting to sell.

Circle paintings being shown on a canvas on a sunny day at the circle of painting booth to show that everyone could join together to make one picture with circles.

Byron, Mia, and Kim making balloon monkeys on Saturday by the Student Union Building to show what kind of services their business offers.

CSUB Cheerleaders are showing how many people fit in this car on a sunny afternoon outside the Student Union Building to let people know that this car is really roomy.

Moon bounces being used by children on a hot day at CSUB campus to have fun.

Solar ovens baking cookies on a sunny Saturday afternoon by the Science 2 Building to show that you don't need to waste electricity and gas, all you need is a sunny day and a solar oven.