

Celebrate CSUB

April 30th, 2011

By Robert Morales

Comm306

The day started off with parents, students, and community members enjoying booths set up by CSUB on the Red Brick Road

A jazz band provides entertainment to guests on the Red Brick Road on the Northwest side of the Library.

Rebecca Rogers is eager to provide information to others on the upcoming Bakersfield Jazz Festival, hosted by CSUB.

A parent and her son inquire with CSUB staff about meal plans for the upcoming 2011-2012 school year.

Blue shirts invaded the CSUB campus on Saturday outside the Student Union building.

Dr. Joel Haney, Music Historian at CSUB, takes a break from incoming freshmen advising and looks for a tri-tip lunch.

Outside the cafeteria, young children test their skill to win candy in booths set up by CSUB clubs.

Mikey Mellow shows off his dancing skill with the Japan Club in front of the cafeteria on Saturday.

Campus tours for incoming students and parents occurred every hour at Celebrate CSUB.

Dr. Robert Provencio arrives with the CSUB Singers at Celebrate CSUB with hopes of recruiting incoming talent for next year.

Children enjoy their popsicles and paint on a hot Saturday outside of the Science II building at CSUB.

Mr. and Mrs. Martinez, parents of an incoming freshmen, show an interest in what campus life will be like for their son on Saturday.

Kristen Falls and Amalinda Duran sing hymns to attract people to their booth in the afternoon at
Celebrate CSUB.

Stephanie, an art student at CSUB, shows off her talent to others along the Red Brick Road on Saturday at Celebrate CSUB.

Late Saturday afternoon, many students toured the campus and the remaining activities before moving on to watch the Runners baseball game at Celebrate CSUB.

After a long day, incoming freshmen and their parents walk to the baseball field to attempt to cheer the Runners on to victory late Saturday afternoon.